Stephanie Chang represents clients in general litigation, with a particular emphasis on mass tort and product liability matters in state and federal courts.

Stephanie manages cases from inception to completion, often appearing in court for oral arguments and other court-mandated conferences. She handles all aspects of litigation, including fact investigation, discovery, law and motion, taking and defending depositions, and trial preparation and strategy.

Before joining Tucker Ellis, Stephanie focused her practice on the defense of business and commercial litigation, including employment discrimination matters and real estate property disputes. She is also experienced in complex litigation such as asbestos and toxic tort matters. Stephanie's diverse litigation experience enables her to utilize her unique skill set to advocate and provide the best representation for clients.

Away from work, Stephanie enjoys trying new restaurants, traveling the world, and spending time with her pets.
